

Snow White and the seven dwarfs

Snow White was a princess and a beautiful young girl with long black hair.

Her stepmother, the queen, was also beautiful but had an evil heart.

The queen had a magic mirror. Everyday she asked the mirror. "Who is the most beautiful in the land? " And everyday the mirror replied "You are my queen".

Several years passed. One day the queen asked the mirror "Who is the most beautiful in the land?". The mirror replied "Snow White".

The queen was very angry.

She decided Snow White must die.

The queen called a hunter and ordered him to kill Snow White and return with her heart in a wood box.

But the hunter could not kill Snow White. He told her to run far away.

He then killed a deer and put its heart in the wood box.

Upon getting the heart, the queen was very happy. She thought she was again the most beautiful in the land.

Snow White ran through the forest and found a little house.

Inside the house were seven little wood chairs and seven little plates on a little wood table.

Soon, the seven dwarfs who lived there came home.

The dwarfs found Snow White. She was very surprised.

Snow White stayed and lived with the dwarfs. She cleaned their house and cooked their dinner.

One day the queen saw Snow White in her mirror. She was very angry.

The evil queen changed into an old ugly woman and brought Snow White a poison apple.

Snow White, not knowing the apple was poison, took a bite and immediately fell into a deep sleep.

On the way home, the evil queen fell into the lake and drowned.

The dwarfs were very sad. They thought Snow White was dead. She was really only in a deep sleep.

Years later, a prince found Snow White, kissed her, and she woke up from her deep sleep.

They married and lived happily ever after.
